WE NOMINATE

George Vinton Duffield, one of the remarkable Princetonians of his time and a "living tradition" linking Princeton Yesterday with Princeton Present, who this month is settling into a new routine (known as retirement) after forging what could well be an all-time longevity record for this community—56 years of continuous and effective service in the employ of his original employer. It was in the summer of 1905 that a 13-year old "farm kid" tramped three dusty miles from the Cherry Valley Road to the University Campus to start his first job in the Library; on July 1, 1961, the youngster, now 68, relinquished his responsibilities in one of the country's great libraries.

Once described as "an institution within an institution," Duffield upon retirement held the title he had earned and had actually created, "Chief, Department of Building and Technical Services, Firestone Library." Over the decades, starting as a "shelver" (returning books to their assigned places), Duffield without benefit of schooling in the library sciences became a recognized authority in the planning, construction and operation of libraries and their supporting facilities. Both here and elsewhere, whether it was the design of new quarters for priceless collections or matters of every-day efficiency, his opinions and recommendations were eagerly sought.

Duffield's career, beginning at the mid-way point in Woodrow Wilson's Princeton presidency and continuing into the fifth year of the University's 16th president, coincides not only with staggering advances in the history of mankind but also with a corresponding series of upheavals within higher education. Of far-reaching consequence in the groves of Academe was the realization that the traditional concepts of college library planning, personified here in the early 1900's by the Pyne Library which on Sundays limited all access to some two dozen theological works, were as outmoded as 1-lane highways.

In 1945, upon completing a quarter-century as Chief of Circulation, Duffield was catapaulted into the front rank of "new library planners" as full-time technical assistant to then Librarian Julian P. Boyd who was struggling with the projected $7,000,000 Firestone Library. For the next three years Duffield, a practical academic layman, divided his weeks between Princeton and the architects' New York offices; ploughed his way through oceans of detail; and, in the final stages of construction, answered pick-and-shovel questions that had stumped the experts while arbitrating differences between scholar-users and planners.

Duffield, who joyfully recalls helping Woodrow Wilson collect data for his inaugural address as Governor of New Jersey as well as the added task of assembling materials for the Paris Peace Conference, gave one of the most convincing demonstrations of his organizational capacities in the summer of 1948 when some 35 students moved upwards of 1,000,000 volumes into the newly completed Firestone building. The move was so carefully plotted that the Library's card catalogue was moved at night and was available for use the following morning! Long a trustee of the Princeton Public Library, his next major venture may well be the plans for the new Borough-Township Library.

For his lifelong adherence to exemplary standards of achievement and service; for his wide-ranging knowledge of Princeton and Princeton's institutions; for looking upon retirement as an opportunity "to do the many things I haven't had time to do"; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

NO NEW "BLIGHT" VOTE

Board's 4-3 Decision Stands. The Borough Planning Board has decided to stand on its controversial 4-3 vote declaring the Hulfish-Green-Witherspoon-John area "blighted".

After a private 20-minute caucus at last Thursday's meeting, Board Chairman Sly announced through their chairman, Martin Beck, that they had decided not to take a second vote.

"We will wait to see what the court decides," said Mr. Beck. "If they decide that the Board's by-laws will not support our 4-3 vote, then we will take up the matter again."

The Planning Board is under a restraining order issued by Superior Court Judge Frank J. Kinfield, preventing the Board from taking any action on urban renewal which is based on the 4-3 vote. That is, the Board cannot pass on to Borough Council its recommendation that the area in question is "blighted."

Under terms of the court order, handed down June 30, the Board cannot act until August 10, when the court will announce its interpretation of the ambiguous by-law under which the original June 6 vote was declared void by Board counsel William Miller.

Judge Kingfield issued the order on the request of attorney David W. Dietz, acting for Burnet Griggs, 4 Witherspoon Street, whose property would be affected by any declaration of "blight".

Austen's Vote Unrecorded. The original vote was 4-3 because Borough Councilman Albert A. Austen, Planning Board member, abstained. Mr. Austen has said that he would not abstain again if the issue came to vote a second time.

"Has Mr. Austen been given a chance to vote?" asked Minot C. Morgan, Jr. at Thursday night's meeting.

Mr. Beck explained that only Board members who had cast affirmative votes could request a second balloting, and that they had not done so. "Yes" votes were cast by Mr. Beck, Edward Hofgesang, Arthur Brokaw and Mayor Raymond F. Male, all of whom were present at Thursday night's meeting. "No" votes were cast by Bryan Moore, Webster S. Dodge and Dr. Charles R. Erdman. Mr. Moore and Mr. Dodge were present, but Dr. Erdman was not.

John F. Sly abstained in the original vote because of his position on the University faculty, and the resulting "conflict of interest" arising from the University's controlling interest in Palmer Square, Inc., formerly Princeton Municipal Improvement, owners of property in the disputed area. It has been suggested that Dr. Sly, who has since been retired from the faculty, might participate in a second vote, but he has given no indication that he will do so.

"I am now prepared to vote when the opportunity rises," stated Mr. Austen at the Thursday meeting, "and I wish to thank all those who were patient with me during this time when I have been seeking the answer in my conscience."

Most observers of the "blight" issue believe that the Board decided to stand on its 4-3 vote to test the firmness of any future 4-3 decisions.

Graduate College Plans Hearings will be held before the Borough Zoning Board next Thursday on the University's plans for two new residential quadrangles for the Graduate College. (See picture, page 3.) The plans were discussed by the Borough Planning Board, representatives of the University and the architects at the Board's meeting last Thursday.

The University plans to build the quadrangles next to the present Graduate College buildings on the corner of Springdale and College Road. The structures would be 70 feet in from Springdale and 170 feet in from College Road, designed to accommodate 270 single, male graduate students, which would bring the total number of Graduate College residents to about 480. Only dormitory space will be provided in the new quarters; students will continue to use the dining and common room facilities already in existence on the Graduate College campus.

At Thursday's meeting, the chief concern of the Planning Board was traffic. Dodd McHugh, Borough Planner said, that College Road, as it exists today, would be inadequate for any increased traffic, and he suggested that the present road be made one-way west (into Springdale) and that a second College Road be built which would be one-way east, with parking between the two roads.

Architects' plans call for a parking strip 100 feet wide and 650 feet long parallel to an extension of Springdale Road to provide parking for 130 cars, and a second lot for 20 cars along the present practice driving range of Springdale golf course. The first strip parking lot would take a long, thin slice out of the course's third hole.

Concern about the traffic caused by the 130 cars motivated most of the discussion at the Planning Board meeting, but Ricardo A. Mestres, treasurer of the University, said that only graduate students whose work took them to Forrestal would be permitted to have cars on campus. Other students, he said, would probably be required to leave their cars in dead storage next to Baker Rink.

The Planning Board approved the University's plans as submitted. The University must appear before the Zoning Board to obtain a special permit; no variance is involved.

NEW FAIRWAYS PLANNED At Springdale Golf Club. By the time the 1962 season begins at Springdale, major alterations will have been made on several of the first nine holes to adjust for loss of the land which the University will

Ten Years Ago In Princeton

TOWN TOPICS, July 12, 1951: Polio was making its annual summer-time attack on humanity. . . . Princeton so far was untouched for the year but the nation reported a 400 percent increase in the past decade.

Township Committee considered the problem of changing the name of Lovers Lane, because so many street signs were removed by adolescent souvenir-hunters. . . . after due consideration, it was decided that the name would remain the same but that potential prawlers—and those romantically inclined, as well—would be deterred by the addition of a bright street light.

The Korean war continued to have its effects on the home front. A meat shortage developed, and was sufficiently acute that the 38-year old butcher shop operated by the Vogel Brothers at 104 Nassau Street announced plans to close. Sale of the store followed shortly thereafter.

Government price controls continued to set the cost of certain items. In mid-July came word that the latest addition to the list were Christmas decorations.

Plagued for three decades by the fact that it bridged the Borough-Township line, and therefore fell into the jurisdiction of two municipalities, Princeton Hospital took steps to "consolidate." With the approval of Township Committee, the four acres on which the hospital's northern extremities stood were deeded to the Borough.

The McCarter was billing Melvyn Douglas and Signe Hasso in "Glad Tidings," one of the lukewarm offerings in an often steaming theatre that eventually removed it from the strawhat circuit. . . . Princeton alumnus Jose Ferrer was in "Cyrano de Bergerac" at the Playhouse, while the Gardens offered comic Donald O'Connor in a western, "Curtain Call at Cactus Creek."

In sports, Pete's A.C. had an 11-1 mark in the Men's Softball League, with The Phantoms and Veterans Taxi in hot pursuit. . . . in a flourishing eight-team Girls League (none at all in 1951), the Jets were first, with Ellie Mazziotti hitting hard for them. . . . standout pitchers included Gertie Hausmann for Cousins Co., Helen West for Cramer Motors, Gail Kelley for ETS and Alice Keunji for the Eagles.

Princeton's entry in the Twin-M Baseball League boasted these batting averages: Jim Brown, .421; Tom Brophy, .395; Nick Ross, .354; Norm Hines, Jim Carter and Bill Hegarty, all .333; Bob Kehoe, .273; Jack Petrone, .245 and Jack Sweeney, .233.

On the Princeton Hospital birth list were daughters to Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Goeke, 45 Moran; Mr. and Mrs. William Weissenburger, RD 1, sons to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Charyk, 60 College Road, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Soderberg, 401-A Devereaux, Mr. and Mrs. James Hall, 26 Birch; Mr. and Mrs. James M. Gatling, 20 North Stanworth.

The Princeton Shopping Center set August 1, 1952, as its opening date (but missed by nearly a year). . . . residents of Spruce Street complained to Borough Council that the starlings in their neighborhood were a pestiferous; that the affected area was "worse than the bottom of a bird cage."

Author Dashiell Hammett, one-time resident of Cleveland Lane, was sentenced to six months in jail for refusal to testify about his activities as a member of the subversive Civil Rights Congress. . . . Dr. Maurice W. Kelley, named the University's Acting Librarian, was "Man of the Week."

require for expansion of the Graduate College (see above).

As reported in TOWN TOPICS last summer, the short (150-yard) second hole will be eliminated, being replaced by another par three scheduled for construction at the far end of Springdale Road. The land is currently in use as a practice area and has been the site of hole-in-one tournaments as part of the Hospital Fete program.

Club President H. C. "Cobbles" Sturlahn said this week that no final plan for a new layout has been made because Springdale has not been formally ratified as to exactly what land the University will require. (The entire tract is University-owned, with the golf club operating as a separate entity but subject to the University's direction.)

Tentative plans, Mr. Sturlahn said, call for lengthening the tough 436-yard par for cutting par five third to a step that would compensate for cutting the par five to a par four. The latter move will be dictated by removal of a strip of 200 yards or more of the present third hole for the proposed parking lot.

Renumbering of at least half the holes on the first nine will be a part of the altered layout. Final plans will be made shortly, and construction work is expected to start after Labor Day.

"YES" ON THE JOB

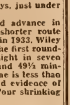
With Summer Assignments, examples of the match-making that is being done these days by "YES", the new employment agency, directors of the service this week cited two young people who were matched with summer jobs through the medium of the service.

Mrs. John O. Green, public relations chairman of the Family Service Agency, asked "YES" for a photographer to take colored slides depicting the work of the agency. "YES" found Richard Pearson, Princeton High School senior, who has now taken on the Family Service assignment.

In the second case, "YES" was asked by the owner of an unsweetened fruit juice a young man with enough knowledge to make the sailboat sea-worthy. Through "YES", the owner of the boat hired Davidy Kelley, who had registered with the employment service.

Since "YES" opened on May 15, 150 job orders have come in. The office is open Monday through Friday from 9 to noon at 120 John Street. The telephone is WA 4-5841.

Person To Person



Our navy friend was talking about the first voyage around the world, which took three years, from 1519 to 1522. Apoly thirty years after Columbus proved the world to be round.

Other ocean voyages cut the time, but it was not until the first round-the-world air flight, that the time period was drastically shortened. In 1924, 402 years after the first voyage around the world, the U. S. Army Air Corps had two of four startling planes complete the air trip from Seattle to Seattle in 175 days, just under six months.

With the rapid advance in aviation, and a shorter route nine years later, in 1933, Wiley Post completed the first round-the-world solo flight in seven days, 18 hours and 49½ minutes. Now the time is less than half of that, vivid evidence of the meaning of "our shrinking world."

Interesting facts, but the transportation that concerns most of us intimately and daily is our own automobile, without which most of us are lost. Good reason for you to demand the best to begin with and conscientious maintenance thereafter. We will fill the bill for you on both counts, faithfully and economically.

NEW BUILDING FOR GRADUATE COLLEGE: Two new quadrangles, costing $1,750,000 to $2 million, will be built by Princeton University on the Graduate College campus for an additional 270 single students. The residential quarters, designed by Ballard, Todd and Snibbe of New York, will be stone-faced to harmonize with the existing buildings, and trimmed with a combination of metal and slate at the top. The dormitories are two stories in height, the tower junctions three. University officials hope that the building will be ready by September, 1963, at the latest. (Story, Page 1.)

PARKING LOT APPROVED By Borough Council. The Borough is finally going to have a parking lot in the Moore - Nassau - Vandeventer Street area. After years of discussion and over a year of active consideration, Borough Council unanimously passed the necessary ordinance Tuesday night following a public hearing.

Under the ordinance, the Borough can acquire by gift, purchase, long term lease or, if necessary, condemnation, 21 parcels of land in the interior of the block bounded by Nassau, Moore and Vandeventer Streets and Park Place. The irregularly-bordered lot will provide space for between 140 and 150 cars, with one entrance each from Moore and Vandeventer, two exits on Park Place and a walkway to Nassau Street.

The public hearing produced mainly questions on certain aspects of the lot rather than the acrimonious debate often produced by public works ordinances, especially those involving condemnation. Possibly this was because, as Mayor Raymond F. Male explained, the Borough had managed to reach prior agreement with almost all of the property owners whose land would go into the parking yard.

In general, Mayor Male termed the parking yard to be a ease of overriding public interest which demanded "action rather than inaction." He explained that the lot would have a safety advantage insofar as it would reduce the number of driveways opening onto Nassau Street and pledged that the Council would do its best to make the yard "as esthetic as possible."

In response to questions concerning the $170,000 price tag on the parking yard ($85,000 for land purchases, $85,000 for improvements), Mayor Male predicted that meter revenues would probably pay for the necessary bond issue. He added that the Borough would also receive compensation in the form of greater tax revenues produced by more prosperous business in the area.

Prior to the public hearing on the parking lot, Borough Council met in joint session with Township Committee to receive bids on the Walnut Lane construction project. Trenton Paving Company, with a low bid of $32,580, received the contract.

In other action, Borough Council introduced an ordinance to exempt residents 65 or over earning less than $5000 from a maximum of $300 property tax assessment, as permitted by State law; agreed to advertise for bids on the construction of sidewalks for portions of Nassau Street, Riverside Drive and Cedar Lane; and heard that the auditor had no official recommendations to make to the municipality this year.

SEMINARY SELLS LAND

On Great Road. Princeton Theological Seminary has sold to a developer the 92-acre Great Road plot originally purchased for a second Seminary campus.

The buyer is Hunt and Augustine, Inc. William W. Augustine, president of the firm, told the Township Planning Board Monday night that his company planned to construct 58 Colonial-style homes on plots ranging from two to six acres at prices from $60,000 to $120,000. Approximately five homes a year will be built, Mr. Augustine said.

The 92 acres extends from The Great Road west to Stony Brook. Mr. Augustine told the Planning Board that he will grant the Township an easement of 50 feet along the brook for a scenic, brookside path. If the Planning Board grants its approval, after submission of final plans in August, Mr. Augustine hopes to begin construction in September.

Princeton Theological Seminary had planned an extensive residential campus on the 92-acre plot, which it purchased from Charles Agie However, a group of North Road residents protested the Seminary's plans and took their objections to court to prevent the Seminary from proceeding. The pre-trial conference on this litigation was scheduled for September 16, according to J. Seymour Montgomery, attorney for the residents. Mr. Montgomery also told the Board that his clients approved of Mr. Augustine's plans for a development on the property. The Seminary's sale of the property cancels out the litigation.

Objections from Brookstone. In other business Monday night, the Planning Board hear a group of Brookstone residents who expressed their concern about the final plan for the development of the rest of that property. Their doubts arose from the changes made on the original preliminary, and from their concern that Stony Brook would be dangerously altered if houses or fill were allowed in the flood plain.

Nine lots in the plan are fully in the flood plain, with fill required. Malcolm Crooks, executive director of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association, explained that no fill or building was allowed below the 12-foot flood plain line unless the state gave its approval. He said that the stream held a million gallons in storage and that this stor-

'Til We Meet Again

The extent of Township Planning Board business was underscored Monday night when the Board scheduled three extra meetings for July.

On July 19, there will be an executive session to wind up several pending subdivision approvals. On July 27, Board members will meet with the Open Space Committee for a progress report.

On July 31, the Board will devote an evening to Jack Kendree, Planning Board consultant, who will present his views on multiple housing, light industry, the need for additional business zones, the sidewalk master plan, the revision of lot sizes in the diabase area and sewer costs.

Mr. Kendree gave the Board on Monday night his final draft ordinance on light industry which the Board will examine before the July 31 meeting.

age would be eliminated if the area were filled in.

Hans K Sander of the Planning Board, estimated that on at least one lot, there would be only 9600 square feet on which to build if the flood plain portion of the lot were out-of-bounds. Bernard Peyton and David H McAlpin, owners of property adjoining the development, expressed concern about the flooding of low-lying portions of their land if the houses were built and Stony Brook altered.

Residents of the area who questioned the proposed Brookstone section explained that they were not necessarily opposed to the 50 additional lots; they were merely ignorant of the technical facts involved in construction on such property, and the reasons for changes made in the original plan.

The Board tabled the plan and told the residents that they would all be notified if the Board decided to give favorable consideration to the plans.

Flood Plain Discussed. The problem of the flood plain, graphically demonstrated in both of the above developments, was discussed in some detail by Mr. Crooks who emphasized at the Board meeting and in a later statement, the alarm felt by the Watersheds Association over the problem of urbanization and its threat to stream valleys.

"Flood plains are huge flood control reservoirs," Mr. Crooks explained, "and they protect downstream communities from disastrous flooding conditions and save upstream areas from back-up flooding."

He said that, if flood plain lowlands were not saved now, there would either be increased flood damages or the necessity for buying land and building flood control dams in the future.

Stony Brook watershed residents are almost wholly dependent for water supply upon underground water, Mr. Crooks said, urging that flood plains be protected and allowed to continue serving as re-charging agents for underground water supplies.

It was announced during the Planning Board meeting that the Township's Open Space Committee, which Mr. Crooks serves as adviser, would make its preliminary report to the Planning Board on Thursday, July 27 at 8 p.m. in executive session.

The Open Space Committee would like to see developers set aside areas as "conservation easements" for recreation, flood control and open space.

In addition to Mr. Augustine's offer to deed a 35-foot wide strip to the Township along Stony Brook, the Township has a reported offer from Lawrence Greene, the Brookstone developer, to turn over a piece of Brookstone land in the flood plain for a small neighborhood playground. This proposal is subject to study by the Township Recreation Commission and the Open Space Committee, Planning Board members said. Mr. Greene has been asked by the County to discuss the possibility of a recreation plot with County and Township representatives, according to Planning Board members.

Day Schools Submit Plan. Princeton Day Schools submitted plans for its new campus and was told to bring them back in August with alternate suggestions about entrance into the campus and exit onto The Great Road.

In the course of the discussion, Mayor R Kenneth Fairman suggested two 24-foot pavements with the existing row of elm trees between them, to run from Pretty Brook Road north to Tenacre, and with enough right-of-way to carry such a road beyond Tenacre, if required He said he thought this would be better than a widened road. He also suggested that the forthcoming re-alignment of The Great Road serve as the right fork of a division whose left fork would go into the school property and end in a turn-around.

In a stream-lining of procedure, adopted at the suggestion of Administrator Joseph R. Nini, the Planning Board will no longer handle routine checking of previously-approved plans. This will be done by a subcommittee consisting of the chairman of the Board, the Township attorney, the engineer and the secretary of the Board.

Gerald Breese was elected chairman of the Planning Board to succeed Samuel Frothingham, who resigned because he has moved into the Borough. Hans K. Sander was chosen vice-chairman.

IT WAS "ANDY HATCHER DAY:" Princetonians turned out by the score Saturday at the YM-YWCA to welcome Andrew Hatcher back for a brief visit to his native Princeton. Pictured are Mayor Male, Mrs. Sherman Bates, a member of the committee planning the occasion; Mr. Hatcher, who is assistant press secretary to President Kennedy and Mrs. George Reeves, committee chairman. For additional comments on the occasion, see Mayor Male's weekly report —page 15. (Staff Photo.)

ABC VIOLATION FOUND

Yeoman's to Close 5 Days. Yeaman's Liquor Store, 108 Nassau Street, pleaded non vult before Borough Council Monday night on a charge of violating the New Jersey Alcoholic Beverage Control laws. Council ordered the store closed for 10 days, reduced to 5 because of the non vult plea.

Yeoman's, which had not previously been charged with an ABC violation under its present ownership, will close beginning July 24. The violation, which was sale to a minor, occurred on May 6.

$115 STOLEN

From Photo Processing Co. Approximately $115 in cash and checks was taken some time Friday evening from the office of the Princeton Photo Process Co. at 11 Witherspoon Street.

Patrolman John Markuson, on foot patrol, discovered the theft when he found the front door of the photo company unlocked at 12.30 Saturday morning. The same establishment was entered and robbed under similar circumstances on April 14.

HOLD THOSE PAYMENTS

Of Personal Property Taxes. The Princeton Township Tax Department has reported that some taxpayers are making advance payments on their 1962 personal property taxes. Such payments are to be discontinued, since the Township Committee has decided not to levy personal property taxes in 1962.

However, homeowners whose personal property tax is combined with real estate taxes are requested to pay the amount of tax shown on the tax bills. The personal property tax portion will be credited to the real property taxes for 1962. Under no circumstances should taxpayers change the amounts shown on the tax bills.

The Township reports it regretted this inconvenience but the state law validating the abolition of the personal property tax—at municipal option—had not passed at the time the new tax bills were being prepared. The tax department had no alternative but to bill for the 1962 personal property tax.

WILL EXHIBIT PAINTINGS

For Theatre-Goers. The Little Gallery will offer a changing group of pictures for the pleasure of Princeton Players' audiences during the eight-week season at Princeton Country Day School.

The present exhibit, continuing through this week, is a set of cartoons by Clarence Brown, a member of the University faculty. Succeeding exhibitions will include random selections of works by many artists in a variety of media.

News Of The THEATRES

(A review of the Princeton Players' current production, "I Am A Camera," will be found on Page 10.)

"ENDGAME" HERE

In Players' Production. Samuel Beckett's macabre comedy, "Endgame," will be the next production of Princeton Players, Inc. The short work will be given at Princeton Country Day School starting next Wednesday and continuing through Sunday, July 23.

Curtain time for Wednesday, Thursday and Sunday night will be 8:30 p.m. and for Friday and Saturday, 9 p.m.

Andre Gregory, formerly with the San Francisco workshop and the Berliner Ensemble, will direct the Beckett work and George Reinholt and Philip Minor, both of whom appeared with great success in the Players' opening Shaw plays, will star in the forthcoming production.

Beckett's four characters in "Endgame" play out the end of the world. Hamm, a blind tyrant, rules the world from a wheelchair. Clov, his founding slave, is the instrument through which Beckett expresses his ideas. Nell and Nagg, parents of Hamm, live out the action of the play in ashcans.

SAROYAN PLAY SET

At Seminary Wednesday. The Mertin Theatre of Princeton Theological Seminary will present William Saroyan's drama "Hello Out There" in the Campus Center Theatre at 9 p.m. Wednesday. The production is a special attraction for the Institute of Theology, which is being held at the Seminary through Thursday.

Saroyan wrote "Hello Out There" in 1941 as a curtain raiser for "The Devil's Disciple." Libert Vin Paul Diaferi, director of the current off-Broadway play, "The Sign of Jonah," will direct and stage the Princeton production.

Members of the cast include Bill Hutchinson, Judy Cutting, Ed Sprague, Jim Hunch, Dee Kulecky and Bill Hutch. The production will be open to the public and there will be no admission charge.

C-K SIGNS UP THREE

For Fall Shows. Mart Sahl, Louis Armstrong and Johnny Mathis will appear in Princeton this fall under the aegis of C-K Production, which has signed up the three entertainers for a series of football weekend programs.

Mort Sahl will return to Princeton on October 14, the weekend of the Penn game. Louis Armstrong will bring his orchestra for the Cornell game weekend on October 27 and Johnny Mathis and his orchestra will come November 18 for two shows during the Yale game weekend.

BY AND FOR CHILDREN

Summer Theatre. The Children's Summer Theatre, Douglass College, Rutgers, will open its summer season this Thursday with a performance of "Cinderella Three," a play which acts out the story of Cinderella as it is told in three different countries. It will be presented at 10:30 a.m. this Thursday and Friday and next Thursday and Friday at the Little Theatre on the Douglass campus in New Brunswick.

The second play will be the world premiere of a new musical, "Tadpole," a story about Tad Lincoln, youngest son of Abraham Lincoln, and his adventures in the White House. Performances will be given July 27 and 28 and August 3 and 4.

The third and final offering will be another musical, "Johnny Appleseed" which tells how Johnny happened to start planting apple trees. "Johnny" will be given August 10 and 11 at 10:30 and at 2 p.m.

The Summer Theatre consists of 51 young actors ranging from nine to 15 years of age, working under the direction of Mrs. Lowell Swortzell, instructor in Speech and Dramatic Art at Douglass. Each child will appear in each production.

Ticket reservations may be made by writing to Children's

TO TEST OR NOT TO TEST is a question facing this country's leaders. Frank Sapienza (left) and Rinaldi Rossi both agree that the U. S. should resume testing of nuclear weapons to keep ahead of the Russians. For others, such a decision is full of peril. (Staff Photo.)

Question of the Week

Question: Do you feel, as our military leaders do, that the United States should resume testing of nuclear weapons?

Where asked: Around town.

Anastes Bastagiis, 380 Nassau Street, retired. Yes. I think so, because Russia is a treacherous enemy and we have to keep our defense up.

Miss Sophia Beryk, 322 State Road, music teacher. I think, in essence, what it boils down to is that the issue must be carefully weighed before any decisions are made. Our democratic way of life is so different from the communistic way of life and thinking that I feel the implications involved are too heavy to be weighed and decided as to whether we should resume testing again.

Sigurd B'Seth, 664 Prospect Avenue Extension, captain of radar ship. I think we should. I don't trust the Russians. They have been spying, sabotaging and lying for 50 years. Their motto is: take over any nation in any way they can. We should resume testing until we get a decent, workable agreement with them.

Mrs. Joseph Caplan, 244 Hawthorne Avenue, housewife. I don't think we should test alone, but if Russia is doing it, we should, too. This country is a smart country. There are smart people in it. we shouldn't let Russia get ahead of us. The only thing is this country has a heart and Russia doesn't.

William Anderson, 48 Lower Harrison Street, student, Princeton Theological Seminary: I think it is a good idea, even though I am a prospective clergyman. If Russia is testing secretly, it would counterbalance what they are doing. Otherwise, it would put a little pressure on them. At least we would be taking a definite stand.

William Haller, Jr., Kingston, R. I., economics teacher. No, definitely not. I don't think there is anything to be achieved by the testing of nuclear weapons.

Dr. Jocela Wittmann-Fiedler, 30 Nassau Street, archeologist. For research, everything, but never for war purposes. And I stress the word "never."

Frank Sapienza, 12 Chambers Street, owner of shoe repair shop. Yes, sir! I say, let's keep ahead of the other nations. I believe the other nations are just bluffing.

Rinaldi Rossi, 28 Witherspoon Lane, maintenance man. Yes, because if we don't Russia will become superior to this country, militarily. I saw in the paper where Khrushchev said we were still ahead of them but that Russia was catching up fast and would soon surpass us.

Mrs. John Graebner, 126 Moore Street, housewife: No, I don't. I'm really afraid of that this fallout. I think there's more danger to it than the public knows. Certainly, if we continue testing, it wouldn't stop the other powers from testing. It's sort of fighting fire with fire. If we would all stop testing, I think that would be the ideal situation.

Donald Burdick, 405 Devereux Avenue, graduate student, mathematics. Yes, I do. I do not think that underground testing is particularly dangerous. There is a very good chance that the Soviet Union is carrying them on and there is too much at stake to risk getting behind in the arms race.

Olindo Carnevale, 33 Harris Road, janitor for Princeton University: Yes. I think we should so we can stay ahead of Russia. They are the ones who have started all this trouble in the first place.

Mrs. Mary Lu Kirsty, Youngstown, Ohio, housewife: I don't think we should. I just think we have to stop some place in this arms race. It appears no one wants to stop but someone has to make the first step and this is as good as time as any.

Henry B. Russ, 15 Palmer Square, national representative. Woodrow Wilson Foundation: Yes, because I think it's realistic to do it. We have no guarantee that the Russians have not done it in the past and will not do it in the future. I think we owe it to the American people and their allies to keep abreast of and well ahead of potential enemies.

Mrs. Bradley Kehoe, Lawrenceville Road, teacher: Yes, as long as the Russians are doing it, we will, then we, too, must keep up.

D. Den Richards, 231 Nassau Street, owner of University Radio Electric: I think it would have to depend on what the other countries are doing. I don't think we should say we are going to test regardless. Not being sure if other countries are testing, we ought to do a little research first to find out for certain if they are or are not.

G. W. P. Silvester, 50 Princeton Avenue, retired. Personally, I don't think we should allow ourselves to fall behind Russia. We must not allow other people to get ahead of us even though there may be some danger of fallout involved.

COME INTO THE KITCHEN
And You'll Never Leave.
Even more than the prospect of a new hat, the merest possibility of a new kitchen with that magic combination of jet-propelled efficiency and beauty of design is enough to send most women completely astray. A visit to Kitchen World, newly established in the new section of the 206 Shopping Center, is likely to have the same effect.

Here, in the most tempting display, are sections of model kitchens, ranging, if you'll excuse the pun, from a modest little galley to a spendid laboratory. Here you may discuss your problem, confer on appliance and cupboard and arrange for anything from a $50 remodelling job to a complete kitchen for your brand new house. Following your consultation, the designers at Kitchen World will, of course, come to your house and look things over on the spot.

We liked the U-shaped design combining Roman "brick" walls with satin-finished cupboards in deep sand covered with pale and speckled counter tops. The wall oven is next to the built-in barbecue with electrically turned spit, the wall clock is built in, the copper ventilating hood matches the warm browns of wood and brass.

One cupboard door, incidentally, is brass mesh instead of wood. Just for a change.

For a country kitchen, you might choose the solid cherry cupboards with old-fashioned black wrought iron handles. Solid birch could be used, too, of course, in a choice of finishes. Whatever the wood, you'll want the built-in stainless steel paper dispenser for foil, towels and waxed paper.

One kitchen has a corner sink below wrap-around corner windows, with a cheerful triangular box of geraniums between you and the window. (Sinks can be stainless or white porcelain, double or single, just for a start.)

If country isn't your part of the world, look over the formal antiqued white Provincial cupboards, or the Provincial ones in solid walnut.

For houses with small, dark kitchens, there is a new lighting arrangement for the work-space over the sink. Slanting up and out from the splash-board behind the sink is a laminated plastic panel with ferns and grasses embedded in it—you know, like the placemats and screens you've seen so often.

This panel is about eight feet long and three feet high, and behind it are two rows of fluorescent lights. When you turn on the lights, you have a soft, wide, diffused wall of light that is lighter, and certainly more dramatic, than any cramped little window.

Appliances at Kitchen World are by Tappan, Westinghouse and Royal Rose, by the way, and prices start with the economy level.

ICED TEA-TIME
And Linen to Match. The cool white organdy of a summer tea set, banded with mint green, will make your iced tea taste cooler than an ice cube. Philip Farkouh, the linen shop in the Princeton Shopping Center, has drawers full of these lovely little sets, some appliqued with little green grape leaves and clusters, others embroidered and cut out like a lacy leaf. Tea napkins in fine Irish linen, hemstitched, in all sizes, match these cloths or complement them, depending on your color choice.

If you prefer linen, you'll like the cloths edged with Milan lace in ecru on natural, or in ecru against pale green or other pastels. Place mats are hemstitched linen, too, in white or sand.

Those round tables that extend to an oval to seat all your guests, can be covered with oval linen cloths in any size you like. Sand, pale pink, lilac, white—the choice is yours. Many of these oval cloths are prints, by the way, and you'll like the freshness of a white cloth covered with ripe country strawberries.

Many cloths, oval or round, are enhanced by classic cut-work designs embroidered around the edges in deep ecru. Others are gay and informal with a broad pattern of red and white flower-centered squares and minny inches of thick, white fringe.

Oblong cloths come in Wedgwood blue with small white flowers embroidered here and there, or in white with white designs.

Next time you buy charcoal, stop at Farkouh's and buy the set of red denim cloth and bandanna napkins, each with a brass clip to hold it to cloth or to collar, to catch the melted butter from a hot ear of corn. (Guests who wear strapless dresses are on their own.)

Indianhead coated with plastic makes a cloth that could pass for linen. It has ecru "cut-work" printed on the plastic surface, just to fool you even more. Puddle of butter? Wipe it off with a damp cloth.

Other plastic cloths, in all sizes, are gingham, "damask," or floral print. We are particularly interested in the terry napkins, bright yellow or any other color you chose. What better for a recipie that includes kiddies, hot-dogs and mustard?

Leacock prints, linen or cotton, come in any size for any table, and are cheerful companions for a summer meal.

Incidentally Farkouh's stock is not confined to the

"HIGH BUTTON SHOES"

Next at Music Circus, "High Button Shoes," a musical set in New Brunswick and Atlantic City, will be the next offering at The Music Circus, Lambertville, opening Tuesday for a week's engagement.

Sid Stone, TV comedian, will star in the production which will be directed by Louis MacMillan. Norma Doggett, William Pierson, Charles Dunn, Edward Earle and Reni Cooper will also be seen in the Music Circus offering.

"Showboat" will be seen at the Music Circus through this Sunday.

Dave Brubeck will be the next "Monday Night Special" at the Music Circus, appearing at 8:30 p.m. Subsequent Monday Night Specials will feature Duke Ellington on July 24, Louis Armstrong on July 31, and Byron Janis, the distinguished young concert pianist, on August 7.

"TWO QUEENS"

At Bucks County. A pre-Broadway showing of "Two Queens of Love and Beauty" will continue for a second week at the Bucks County Playhouse with Ann Harding as star and Michael Ellis as producer.

This is a comedy drama about a woman who is hunting for the husband who deserted her 20 years ago. In addition to Miss Harding, the all-women cast includes Georgia Burke, Claudia Morgan, Joan Hackett, Florence Anglin, Toni Darnay, Ferdi Kramos and Zelda Cotton.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Parent Trap (July 12-18) is an attempt by Walt Disney to repeat his success of last summer with "Pollyanna," using basically the same ingredients. Again the film is built around Hayley Mills (this time in a dual role as both halves of a set of twins) and again she is doing what David Swift, as both script writer and director, tells her. As in the case of "Pollyana" the end result is a nice bit of fluff, designed to tug at a few heart strings but rend none.

The story provides an excellent excuse for Miss Mills to meddle in adult affairs, which, after all, was the secret of her success in "Pollyanna." It all begins when Sharon McKendrick (Miss Mills) meets Susan Evers (Miss Mills) at a summer camp and they discover that they are twins. Immediately they plot to bring Miss McKendrick's mother (Maureen O'Hara) back together with Miss Evers' father (Brian Keith). After camp, the twins return to their respective haunts, a palatial ranch on the Monterey Peninsula in the case of Miss McKendrick and an ancient Boston mansion in the case of Miss Evers, to carry out this mission.

The talent of Miss Mills manages to turn this relatively flimsy plot into something which should be quite enjoyable for the 14-and-under set and probably won't alienate many adults even if it doesn't exactly thrill them. In Technicolor.

Goodbye Again (July 19-25) appeals, to this department simply because it stars Ingrid Bergman. In our estimation, although the modern movie queens are well enough constructed and occasionally can do a decent job of acting, none of them can compare to Miss Bergman. She has a certain warmth, apparent since her earliest films, which the others lack.

"Goodbye Again" dramatizes what has probably been the aspiration of many a young and not-so-young American male—the pursuit of Miss Bergman by a young American male (Anthony Perkins). An older Frenchman (Yves Montand) who has been Miss Bergman's "amour" for about five years, provides the necessary complications. Miss Bergman really likes him, but he finds too many excuses for "business trips," so she whiles away a few lonely hours with the young American.

This thin but pleasant plot is backed up by the music of Brahms, as adapted by Georges Auric. Brahms is also present in the plot itself, as Perkins nabs Miss Bergman to a Brahms concert for their first date (the Francois Sagan novel was entitled "Aimez-vous Brahms"). It is all put together to produce a sound mixture of humor and pathos.

THE GARDEN

Flaming Star (July 13-15) pits Elvis Presley, with gun instead of guitar, against both Indians and white settlers on the American frontier. The reader may wonder how he manages to route the ire of both the Indians and the ranchers, but it's really quite simple—Elvis is a half-breed. His mother (Dolores Del Rio) is a Kiowa, his father (John McIntire) a white rancher.

And, having gotten this far, the scriptwriters (Clair Huffaker and Nunnally Johnson) decided to create an Indian war and see what would happen. Lo and behold, to nobody's surprise, Elvis plays the all-American boy and tries to stop the war. Unfortunately, like many wars, this one is not based merely on misunderstanding, so Elvis' efforts to explain the otherside's view to each of the opponents fail, and in trying to play mediator

PROFESSOR FINED

For Drunk Driving. Edward L. Hubler, 39, of 61 Stanworth Lane, an Assistant Professor at Princeton University, was fined $225 in Borough Court and had his license revoked for two years for driving while under the influence of alcohol, Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. imposed the fine and suspension after Prof. Hubler pleaded guilty to the charge.

Prof. Hubler was apprehended by Patrolman Ralph A. Preaccino early last Wednesday morning at the intersection of Nassau Street and University Place, moments after he had grazed a police car near the Balt Restaurant. After hitting the patrol car, Prof. Hubler continued on, driving in an erratic manner, police reported.

In other cases, Arnold G. Gundersen, 19, of Washington Avenue, was fined $15 for failing to have the rear license plate of his car illuminated and Sigurd T. Petersen, Jr., 18, of 254 Jefferson Road, paid $15 for late inspection. Petersen pleaded not guilty.

Carl Banks, 26, of 47 Clay Street, was fined $35 on a disorderly person charge in criminal court. He was accused of threatening his wife, Margaret, who was the complainant.

Missing: One Ton

More than a ton of furniture was stolen from Quadrangle Club on Prospect Avenue during the weekend without a trace of how it was removed.

Seven sofa-beds, each weighing close to 300 pounds, and three dressers were taken by thieves. The loss was estimated at $150 for each of the seven sofa-beds and $35 each for the dressers. Total: $1155.

William Haydock, club manager, was at his home in Colonia from Friday night until Monday morning, when he returned to discover the theft. Borough police have been unable to determine how furniture of such weight could be removed without a single imprint being left behind.

Banks denied the charge.

A PRIZE FOR EVERYONE

Playgrounds Hold Contests. What with yo-yo contests, cracker-eating contests, treasure hunts and hobby shows, almost everyone has a chance to win a prize at a Princeton playground in the summertime.

Boys who would rather participate in more adult pastimes may enter the basketball league for 14 years and ever. Games will be played Tuesday and Thursday evenings at Harrison Street Park Court starting at 6 p.m.

The schedule began Tuesday and will continue through August 25. In case of a tie for first place, the play-offs will be held August 26.

Teams in the league and their captains are Alan Fink, Trenton Bronco; Gilbert Fisher, Princeton Bombers; Raymond Tamasi, Ray's Wildcats; William Hill, Hilltoppers; and Gilbert Carter, Jets.

At Littlebrook last week, Roy Olgyay won first place in a patriotic dress-up contest. His sister, Joy, and Moira Young tied for second place. Joy also won first place in the bicycle decoration contest.

Bob Taum took the blue ribbon in the oldest penny contest with an 1808 coin. Linda Dreeben won first place in the doll contest. Next events: a hobby show and treasure hunt.

At Riverside, Donald Fishbein won the funny hat contest and Steve Bowers won a home-run hitting contest. Dick Sword ranked first in the Zelball tournament at Johnson Park, and Larrie Lampert won a second tournament in the morning event. The afternoon Zelball winners were Allen Fitzpatrick, Helen Baltzer and Charles Goeke.

Helen and Richard Baltzer won a ribbon in the old coin contest with a coin dated 1930 and Raymond Stone won a ribbon with a coin from 50 B.C. Balloon-blowing contest winner was Hugh Fitzpatrick. Alice Carter took first place in the bubble-gum contest. Next events: checkers tournament, track meet, old hat contest.

At Grover Avenue, In the drawing contest held at Grover Avenue, Barbara Aust took first prize. Gordon Young was first in the Oldest Penny contest and Mary Ann Telese was first in the doll contest. The prize balloon-blower is Robert Peterson and the prize crack-

News Of The THEATRES

"I AM A CAMERA"

Second Players' Production. With John Van Druten's "I Am A Camera," adapted from Christopher Isherwood's stories about pre-Hitler Berlin, the Princeton Players began on Wednesday their second production of the summer.

The Van Druten comedy-drama will be given at Princeton Country Day School, Broadmead, through Sunday. Curtain time Friday and Saturday is 9 p.m Other evenings, 8.30 p m.

"I Am A Camera" revolves around a young British ex-patriate named Sally Bowles who spends her time in the night clubs, beds and bars of the Berlin of 1930 She belongs to the tart-with-a-heart-of-gold clan, and although she tries deliberately to shock people, she is really a wistful child with dirty hands who needs the protection of a kind, strong man

This is one way of saying that a company that puts on "I Am A Camera" is beaten before it starts. The one saving element that keeps the Player's production from drowning completely is the delightful performance of Maria Tucci as Sally.

Confronted with the problem of portraying a character already sketched memorably and flawlessly by Julie Harris, Miss Tucci creates her own Sally, using the considerable talent and experience at her command to mould a piece of flotsam into a believeable female human being. She really does an excellent piece of work, and when she is on stage, which is practically all the time, "I Am A Camera" lives a little bit and sparks the audience with some of its life

But her support is negligible. By a curious twist of casting, the two principle female roles are handled deftly and with skill Nellie Morell is such an awesomely right Natalia that she might have been Isherwood's and Van Druten's inspiration. A stiff-necked German Jewish girl who is just learning to speak literary English, Natalia could easily present some problems to an actress, but Miss Morell is so uncannily correct physically for the role, and so just-stiff-enough in her delivery, that she makes credible the difficult character.

We are writing at some length about Miss Tucci and Miss Morell to avoid the inevitable moment when we must come to William Pierce as the hero, Isherwood This earnest young man, in beard and glasses, is wooden, slow, without life or the slightest spark of fire. His scenes of anger against Sally and his scenes of indignation against the Nazis seem only moments of pique, of foot-stamping. One feels a constant urge to light a large bonfire under Mr Pierce.

This, in turn, brings us to Robert Sugarman's direction We said in the beginning that the character of Sally makes the play an embarrassing one to mount, but she is not an insuperable obstacle It is surely possible to direct "Camera" with the pace and movement which are completely lacking in the present production.

It is ponderous, slow-moving, without change of pace, or even the most elementary bits of theatrical business to liven things up. It is not being merely flippant to say that "I Am A Camera" is done in slow motion, slow.

Productions like this, which attenuate a script that is none too solid to begin with, show up the faults of the play in the cruelest kind of slow motion manner

The good-bad girl, the wise, protective "camera" of an author with his twinges of jealousy, the two rigid people who finally realize their love for one another, the domineering dowager mother, the sloppy rich American with his expansive largesse, are, to a certain extent, cliche characters who can only elicit audience response when they appear in a production directed to give them vitality, which is about the only theatrical virtue they have. Vitality is a missing and important factor in the present "I Am A Camera."

er-eater is Teddy Gates. George Tkacs holds the bubble-gum prize. The home-run derby brought Dan Muni in first.

Sue Michael won the patriotic costume contest at Erdman Avenue and Ronda Ziadeh won the prettiest-doll contest. Arlene Mershon, Linda Tessein, Sally Rechif and Joanne Stonakec won for the most unusual, most life-like, smallest and best-dressed dolls respectively. Arlene also won the oldest penny contest.

Other prizes at Erdman went to Pat McManiman (string-eating), Carlos Nanni (balloon-blowing), David Tessein (bubble-gum), Richard Dormer (cracker-eating), David Tessein (peanut scramble). Glenn Christiansen won the horseshoe tournament.

In a pre-Independence Day celebration at the High School, John Chapman won first prize in a patriotic decoration contest. Sam Procaccini and Tony Pirone won the horseshoe doubles contest for the second year. Bob Lappan won the castle-building contest in the sandbox and Susan Valentine won the lollypop hunt.

John Trani placed first in boys ping-pong at Valley Road and Carol Sinkler won for the girls. She also won a crazy hat contest. Tony Cifelli won a bicycle race and Luciano Rossi won a bean-guessing contest. Tony Bailey was first-place winner in a coloring contest.

At Harrison Street, Nick Rosenthal placed first in a checkers tournament. Chuck McHugh won an old nickel contest with a 1907 coin. Marvin Carman won the patriotic bicycle decoration contest and Jay Ross came in first in the bottle-cap hunt.

Three games were played in the Interplayground Softball League schedule. Defending champions at Valley Road defeated Harrison 21-16. High School defeated Littlebrook 3-2 and Grovee beat Riverside 5-4.

LIONS WILL PICNIC

In West Windsor. A steak-fry, combined with a hole-in-one golf contest, fishing, swimming, soft-ball, badminton and quoits will be featured at the annual picnic of the West Windsor Lions Club to be held next Wednesday at 6 p.m. at the home of William Kyle.

Members of the picnic committee, in addition to Mr. Kyle, are Norman Bergstrom, William Connelly, John Ellsworth, Vincent Pocino, Robert Sanders, Joseph Santawasso, Gerald Dollar and John Wilcox. Past presidents of the club will serve as chefs. They are Starr Northrop, Louis Rieger, Robert Holiday, Judson Kurtz and Almbert Lippman

Following the dinner, newly-elected officers will be installed by Past District Governor James C. Sandilos.

COME DIP AND DANCE

With The YMCA Summer Teens. The Princeton YMCA-YWCA Summer Teens will hold a dip and dance Friday evening at the Y building on Avalon Place. All summer teens and the regular YMCA teens are invited to attend the event which will start at 8.15

The Summer Teens held their official opening on Friday when keys to the treasure chest were passed out to members after a hot dog roast and swim. Winning prizes were Vincent Staats, Edward Goetz, Rick Vomacka, Robert White, Leni Gurin, Rowan Howard, Mary Clark, and Britteen McNamee.

Those who have signed up for the summer teen program, in addition to those who won prizes, are Carol Bartell, Marelynne Buckland, Nonny Craig, Leslie Firth, Marilyn Guertler, Sue Maze, Linda Saurman, Laura Libsohn, Dasi Rin, Carol Baunach, Susan Clark, Gus Hadberg, Robin Alexander, Thomas Lane, Ken Guilmartin, Ronald Hurford, Russ Tati, Sharon Smith, David Pensak and Steven Pensak.

his. Ninety-four registered for the same period last year.

Mr. Poviliatis said that the third period of the camp, which will start July 24, is beginning to fill up. He urged parents of children aged 6 and 7 to register now at the Y to avoid disappointment.

NO OVERNIGHT PARKING? Township to Study Ban. The Township is actively considering a ban on overnight parking. A recommendation to institute such a ban was referred to Township Administrator Joseph R. Nini for further study by Township Committee at its Thursday night meeting.

Three members of the five-man committee felt solutions for the hardship which would be created in two specific areas of the township—the Leigh and Birch Avenue area and Harrison Street South—should be studied prior to the introduction of an ordinance to ban overnight parking in the municipality. Voting with the majority were William Marvel, Thomas Cook and Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman. Committeemen Maurice Healy and John S. Mount urgedimmediate action.

The ban was recommended unanimously by the Township's Safety Committee, which argued that it would assist the police department in apprehending prowlers and the engineering department in sweeping the streets and clearing them of snow. In support of such an ordinance, Mr. Healy pointed out that a number of the cars now parked in the Township overnight were forced there by the Borough's ban on overnight parking.

While admitting that residents of Harrison Street South and the Birch-Leigh-John area merit have problems if on-street parking was prohibited between 2 and 6 a.m., supporters of the ban felt it was a question of the "health and safety" of the whole Township as against special interests of residents of two areas. Administrator Nini reported that the Township has already failed in an attempt to persuade residents of the Birch-Leigh-John area to limit overnight parking voluntarily.

JOINT CLASSES PLANNED

At Baptist Vacation School

Princeton's two Baptist churches will hold a pioneering joint Vacation Church School next week. The project is the first example of cooperative action by the Calvary Baptist and First Baptist churches.

"We are trying to make specific on the local level the unity of Christ's church and the spirit of brotherhood," the Rev. Kenneth S. Dannenhauer of Calvary Baptist and the Rev. Dr. William T. Parker of First Baptist explained. The churches are of different denominations and the ministers agreed that the joint Vacation Church School marked a real breakthrough in cooperation.

Classes will be split between the two churches. Three-year-olds, pre-school children, and children who will be second or third or fourth graders next year will meet at Calvary Baptist while those who will be in fifth or sixth grade or junior high next year will meet at First Baptist.

Sessions are scheduled for 9 to 11:30 a.m. daily, beginning Monday and continuing through July 28. Registration will be at 9 a.m. Monday at the church where the child will attend classes.

The committee organizing the school includes Mrs. J. Raymond Sutcliffe and Mrs. Nancy Coker, both of Calvary Baptist, and Mrs. Hazel Rivers and Jesse Greer, both of First Baptist, plus the two ministers.

Teachers include Miss Beatrice Gregory, Mrs. George Brown, Mrs. Kenneth Dannenhauer, Mrs. Olin Mitchell, Mrs. Roy Vogt, Mrs. Wilson Barry, and Mrs. Austin Gemmer.

"Christ in My Life" will be the theme of the school. All interested children are welcome to attend.

BULLETIN NOTES

The Atlantic District of the Lutheran Church of the Brethren will hold its annual Summer Rally at 3:30 p.m. Sunday at the Norseville Pavilion, Griggstown. The Rev. Olaf Olsen of the Mission Church, Yonkers, New York, will

Who Will Be Hurt? Mayor Fairman asked for a survey to reveal on which residents a ban would work a hardship, and suggested solutions might be found prior to introduction of an ordinance. For example, he pointed out that the University last year expressed willingness to provide rear access for residents of Harrison Street South and suggested the possibility of a parking lot for cars displaced for Birch and Lehigh Avenues and John Street by the ban.

Earlier, the Committee approved another Traffic Safety Committee recommendation clarifying which were and which were not through streets in the municipality. The resolution will require a few new "stop" signs and the elimination of a number of others. Still to be decided is the future of the Valley Road-Witherspoon Street and Valley Road-Jefferson Road intersections.

Bond Ordinance Introduced. Even before Committee heard from the Board, it introduced a $76,700 bond ordinance which did not make provision for the tennis courts. The ordinance, which is only the second long-term fund-raising measure introduced in the municipality, will provide funds for the improvement of Franklin Avenue ($36,000), the grading and seeding of seven acres of Community Gardens ($21,000), the completion of Grover Avenue playground without tennis courts ($13,000) and the acquisition of a lot at the North end of John Street ($6,000).

Mayor Fairman explained that the Committee felt this way "the sound way to finance this magnitude of improvements," and added that the master plan had concluded that the municipality could finance between $300,000 and $400,000 of improvements annually this way. The last Township bond issue financed major construction projects such as the Shopping Center Sewer, the addition to Township Hall and the widening of Harrison Street North.

In other action, Committee held public hearings on and approved sidewalks ordinances for portions of Magnolia Lane, Brookpride Drive, Harrison Street and Sycamore Road. It also introduced an ordinance to construct Walnut Lane from Franklin to Guyot Avenues, a project which is being carried out jointly with the Borough.

Finally, the Committee appointed James G. Campbell, a former Township Committeeman, to the Planning Board to replace Samuel Frobinghum, who has resigned to move into the Borough. Mr. Campbell is also a member of the Township Zoning Board.

he makes himself rather unpopular.

Seeing Elvis in this type of role ailment makes one wish he would return to singing in movies, as bad as that may be. At least Elvis with guitar and song is a bit more realistic than Elvis as a half-breed caught up in an Indian war.

Man on a String (July 17-19) is not significantly better than the fare any night of the week on the home screen—just longer. Like many a television series, it is built around a grain of fact, and like many a television series, it surrounds this with a plethora of spy-type gimmicks.

In this case, the grain of fact is the story of film producer Borris Morros as told in his "Ten Years a Counterspy," from which the film has been adapted. Morros, whose name has been changed to Mitrov for the film, is played by Ernest Borgnine. Basically, the story revolves around his work for the United States "Central Bureau of Intelligence," a rather thinly veiled Central Intelligence Agency, which takes him first to West Berlin and ultimately to Moscow.

But to appeal to viewers who have come to expect much cloak-and-dagger action in any spy story, the gimmicks have been added. For example, there are code words, special telegrams, a deadly cigarette lighter and a chase through the rubble of East Berlin. (Admittedly divided cities are an important escape route, but why do they have to show up in every spy story?) In brief, this is one to skip unless your appetite for spy stories is such that television cannot satiate it.

DANCING ON THE DARK GREEN: The lilting measures of "Gay Gordon" and the Russian Two-Step fill the night air on Tuesdays at the Graduate College where folk and square-dancers gather under the strings of lights to do the old favorites and learn new ones. Bare feet, sneakers, ballet slippers are the rule, but the feet move so fast it's hard to tell whether they're shod or not. Spectators sit on the stone wall and watch, and some of them practice (off to one side) so they will be adept enough to join the rest next week. Dances are held from 8 to 10:30 p.m. each Tuesday. A record-player provides music. (Staff Photo.)

19 WORK AT HOSPITAL As Summer Replacements. For 19 young men and women working at Princeton Hospital this summer, the term "summer replacements" is nothing to be sneered at. That is exactly what they are.

The group is participating in a long-established program which enables young people to gain valuable experience in hospital work and at the same time assist the hospital keeping a full staff during vacation time. Many of the summer workers plan medical or nursing careers and all will use their earnings to further their education.

As summer relief employees they work about 10 weeks, mainly in July and August. Those in the nursing department received a week's intensive instruction before going on the medical and surgical floors to work under regular shifts (7 a.m. to 3 p.m., 3 to 11 p.m. and 11 p.m. to 7 a.m.) under the supervision of professional nurses.

The nursing department has claimed 15 of the summer replacements, including 12 young women and three men. Others are working in the laboratory, the housekeeping department, the laundry and the maintenance department.

Six 1961 PHS Graduates. Six of the summer replacements graduated from Princeton High School this year and are now working in the nursing department. They include Lyane Blote, Lawrenceville, Joslin Cook, 581 Lake Drive; Betty C. Mason, Cranbury; Mary Lou Bird, 249 Hamilton Avenue, and twin sisters Alice R. and Elsie J. Sjunner, 28 Wilton Street.

Other young women serving in the nursing department are Linda Johnson, 9 Horner Lane, Laura Van Raalte, 1 Newlin Road; Julie Gunn, Lawrenceville. Katherine Steenrod, 129 Broadmead; Carol Y. Nichales, 35 Battle Road, and Helen W. Turnbull, 250 Mercer Street.

Young men serving as orderlies include Jack Copeland, III, 61 Overbrook Road; and David P. Colley, 232 Russell Road. All three are pre-med students and one, Mr. Ewing, is back for his third year as a summer orderly.

Other summer replacements are Ralph Stroup, 111 Jefferson Road, who is working in the laboratory prior to attending the University of Rochester medical school; Edward T. Harmon, Trenton, in the housekeeping department for his second summer; Theodore R. Kennedy Jr., 129 Birch Avenue in the laundry department for his third summer; and Thomas Wilson, 225 Jefferson Road, in the maintenance department.

FROM NURSING TO LABORATORY WORK: The 19 summer workers at Princeton Hospital are doing a variety of jobs. At the top, Joslin Cook (left) and Carol Nicholes ready a room for a patient, while Ralph Stroup prepares to study tissue in the laboratory. Miss Cook and Miss Nicholes are considering nursing as a possible career. Mr. Stroup will enter the University of Rochester Medical School this fall. (Staff Photos.)

VOLUNTEERS WANTED To Help Migrant Children. The Council of Community Services Committee is organizing a group of volunteers to work at the Day Care Center for Migrant Children at the Cranbury School. The Center will care for pre-school children from July 17 to August 25.

Volunteers are needed to help supervise games and play, read stories, supervise art and music hours, and rest periods. Those who find working with children difficult can help sew, prepare snacks or get supplies. Car pool volunteers are also needed.

Those who can help are asked to call Mrs. Murray Lampert at WA 1-6941.

EMERY RESIGNS As Bank Chairman. Harvey Emery, Pretty Brook Road, has retired as chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the First Trenton National Bank. Mr. Emery, who has been on leave of absence since March for reasons of health, will remain as a member of the board of directors and as a consultant to the bank.

The board of directors, in announcing Mr. Emery's retirement, states that, under his leadership, the bank's earnings and dividends have increased threefold since 1951. Mr. Emery also played an important role in the 1958 merger of Trenton Bank and Trust and the First National Bank of Trenton.

FOREIGN STUDENTS HERE On A. F. S. Trip. Two busloads of American Field Service students will arrive in Princeton Sunday for a three-day visit, bringing to a close their year of studies at American high schools. The 69 students are part of the group of 1,800 whose members came from Europe, Central and South America, Africa and the Near and Far East under the American Field Service International Scholarship Program.

The young visitors, representing 27 countries, will gather at Shiptaukin Farm for a picnic, watch a demonstration at RCA Laboratories and tour the Princeton University campus with an Orange Key guide.

Report from THE MAYOR

THE MAJOR'S REPORT

From Turkey. . . Princeton welcomed for a brief visit last Thursday five distinguished Turkish officials before returning to their official duties at home.

Each had special interest and responsibility in the field of local government, and they were particularly interested in the field of planning and urban renewal. The Orange Key society again capably handled the tour of the university campus.

On very short notice, Mrs Hutchinson Fairman, of Mount Lucas Road, with the help of her youngsters, put on a good-will "cookout" that impressed our visitors with that phase of Americana. Mrs. Fairman, who served so ably with the special committee for last year's UN Week celebration, continues to help the local UN committee in countless ways. Over hot dogs and hamburgers, the problems of communities in Turkey and in the United States (and they seem similar) were seriously discussed. The guests then sat in on the special meeting of the Borough planning board.

"Gump". Several hundred people swarmed to the Y on Saturday to welcome Andy Hatcher, the associate press secretary to the President. Just 20 years after his graduation from Princeton High School (where he carried the nickname of "Gump"), the 37-year old Hatcher has compiled an impressive record at Springfield College, in journalism, in service with the armed forces, in important work with the state government of California, and now, even more importantly, in valued service to the President of the United States.

On Saturday he was "home" again with boyhood friends, loving relatives, friends from church and school and community organizations who served his boy and were in turn served by him. The community also welcomed his wife, Ruth Avery Hatcher, and their seven lovely children.

Several of Andy's relatives mentioned the fact that his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, would have been very proud if they could have lived to see this great reception. The Smiths helped to raise young Andy and their influence has been a great one in his successful career. Aunt Lil (Mrs. Lillian G. Smith of 132 John Street) recalls Andy's boyhood, is impressed by his White House post, but sums up the situation by her comment, "You know, Mayor, the fine thing is that he hasn't changed . . . he's just the same."

Friday Open House. The regular weekly Tell It to the Mayor" sessions will be held on Friday, July 14, and Friday, July 21, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal sessions.

Also on last week's calendar: the impressive Fourth of July program sponsored by the American Legion, Post 76, and the special meeting of the board to the Joint Public Library. The library, still growing in circulation, finds itself always more cramped in its present inadequate quarters and the board is doing a lot of homework in pondering the future for this vital community service.

A Rival With Trees. En route home from Hawaii, the Mayor spent a Saturday taking a close look at Sacramento, California. This town rivals Princeton in its interest—citizen as well as official—in preserving its lovely trees.

Not only is permission required before a tree can be removed; but Sacramento boasts plantings from every nation on the globe. Most of the trees which line the town's sidewalks are neatly labelled with names, source and dates. The police officer who proudly showed me some very special trees was pleased to get a report of Princeton's shared concern for this form of community wealth.

Band Concert Friday

The Princeton Community Band, Richard C. Gerstenberger conductor, will give its second concert of the summer season on Friday at 7:30 in front of Nassau Hall. The concert will be postponed to Monday, in case of rain.

The program will feature George Hunt, Vincent Troiano and Richard Pearson as trumpet soloists in Leroy Anderson's "Bugler's Holiday." Works by Sousa, Berlioz, Holst and Robert Russell Bennett will also be featured. The next concert will be held July 28.

BLACK FOR TOWN

Little Crepe. In the belief that you may leave Princeton from time to time for a dip in the big city, The French Shop at 20 Nassau has acquired some Little Black Dresses to see you off. A sleeveless crepe has a gently cowled neckline, flared skirt, narrow sash that ties in front and a smoky pin to glow softly against the shoulder

A black silk has a wide, V neck, small pleats around the skirt with self buttons down the front and at the edge of the short sleeve and the narrow front tie that is featured on so many of these simple dresses. The return of the narrow heart-shaped neckline is apparent in another black dress. This one has three-quarter sleeves and a surplice front marked by flat bows on each side.

Away from black for the moment, we find an Arnel jersey print in olive and avocado designed with pleated skirt suspended from a camisole top. The top is covered by a short overblouse with flat bows at the hemline. Deep purple and wine and blue mix for the print on another dress, this one made of dacron polyester with round neck, no sleeves and a softly bloused top accented with tie belt.

Brown and black stripes cut off at neck, arms and waist with a narrow black band make a useful little dress of Arnel jersey. Among the dark cottons are several by Serbin, including some recognizable madras shirtwaists and a more unusual batik print with a sweater on which the outlines of the print have been appliqued

SECOND SESSION NEAR

For YMCA Toddler School. A limited number of children will be accepted for the second five-week session of the YMCA Toddlers School for pre-school children age 3 to 5. The session will start July 24 and run thru August 25.

Classes are available on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 9:30 to 11:30. Children may be registered for single, double or triple sessions. Parents interested are urged to register early to insure their child's participation.

There are over 40 registrants meeting in the weekly classes, according to Mrs. Betsy Gates, School Director. The program has included crafts, games, paintings, stories, dramatics and music. The purpose of the school is to prepare children for school.

LANGUAGES OFFERED

In Near Eastern Program. The fifth annual summer program in Near Eastern Languages, an eight-week study course in Arabic, Persian and Turkish, is under way at Princeton University and will continue through August 18.

That was no lady

The sigh of hard earned relief you heard was a man settling down in one of our famous recliners. It might have been a lady but remember it's Sunday morning and on Sunday morning this chair belangs to a man.

What you see above is the greatest "man-saver" since the invention of woman and we sell it with or without a prescription for only $111.00. How we do it is our secret. Why we do it is simple. We're partial to sighs of relief. Come in tomorrow and try a sigh.

EDITOR, PRO TEM: Suzy Scarff (right) has just finished a month as Guest Managing Editor of "Mademoiselle" magazine. The young Princeton resident is one of 20 girls chosen for guest editorial positions from the 842 students on the magazine's 1960-61 College Board. With her are Joshua Logan, producer, and fellow Guest Editor Mary Lynn Martz.

casional work in modern Hebrew and Armenian and general work in near Eastern linguistics are also part of the 1961 offering.

Seminars in teaching methods and dialects, use of the University's language laboratory and individual instruction by native-born drill instructors will constitute the work sessions. In addition, there is a series of seven Wednesday evening lectures open to the public. These lectures are held at 7.30 p.m. in McCosh 10 and will deal with general Near Eastren topics.

CHOSEN AS GUEST EDITOR

Girl with "Mademoiselle". Miss Suzy Scarff, 57 Hodge Road, a senior at Radcliffe, is spending the summer on the staff of "Mademoiselle" magazine, having been chosen from the 842 students who served last year on the publication's College Board. Nineteen other girls were selected to work with "Mademoiselle" this summer.

For the past month, Miss Scarff has been Guest Managing Editor, and she wrote the first page of editorial copy in the August issue of the magazine. During July and August, she will continue to work on the staff and will return to Radcliffe in September to begin her senior year.

As guest of the magazine, she met Joshua Logan at a tea in his apartment, modeled in a fashion show, flew over New York in a special flight, attended two plays and a motion picture preview.

COURT FINES FOUR

In Princeton Township. Francis J. White, 27, 166 Washington Road, West Windsor Township, was fined in Township Court by Magistrate James S. Hill on two charges of being a disorderly person.

White pleaded guilty to both charges. He was picked up on the night of June 29 and charged with creating a disturbance, for which Magistrate Hill fined him $30. While he was in jail that night, he set fire to a blanket, and on a charge of malicious damage, he was fined $70.

Three others were fined for traffic offenses. John H. Smith, 33, 421 Alexander, was fined $65 for operating a vehicle without a license. Willie W. Bennett, 28, Route 27, Little Rocky Hill, was fined $15 for careless driving and $20 for driving without a license.

Mrs. Ruth P. Williams, 52, 244 State Road, was fined $10 for passing a standing school bus. All three pleaded guilty.

FOUR LOSE LICENSE

Under State Speed Law. Four area motorists have lost their licenses under the New Jersey 60/70 excessive speed program.

They are Elize Wright, 33, of 30 Overbrook Drive; Rose A. Boroska, 53, of Boroska Place, Princeton Junction; and Anthony P. Tevere, 20, of Featherbed Lane and Leon L Laney, 28, of Van Dyck Road, both of Hopewell. Mr. Laney was suspended from driving for 60 days, the others for 30 days.

I AM THE LAW

Troopers Hosts to Children. Fresh Air youngsters visiting in the Princeton area will be the guests of troopers of the State Police who will show the city children how headquarters looks, from the inside. The tour will take place Sunday at 3 p.m.

Next Thursday, the children will gather in the afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs John Borden for a puppet show given by Laura Male and her Little Women Puppeteers.

The same evening, Fresh Air guests will meet again for a corn roast at the home of Mr and Mrs. George Warfield Most of the children will return to New York on July 27

BOOK SHOP BOUGHT

On Spring Street, Mrs. Mary R. Hicks of 22 North Stanworth Drive has purchased the Witherspoon Art and Book Shop, 6 Spring Street, from Mrs. Bradford Locke and Mrs. Marie C. Hemphill. Mrs. Hicks assumed ownership on July 1.

Founded shortly after the war, the shop was purchased by Mrs. Mary Hoadley who ran it for almost ten years in various locations around Spring and Witherspoon Streets. The shop takes its name, not from the street, but from John Witherspoon, 19th century president of Princeton University.

Mrs. Hicks will follow the policies of her predecessors, acting as an agent to obtain out-of-print or rare books, ordering from publishers single copies of books currently in print, and providing a place where local artists can display their works and offer them for sale.

The shop will be open from 10 to 4 weekdays and from 10 to noon on Saturdays.

TAX REFUNDS STILL DUE

Says Camden Director. Although the vast majority of refunds for overpayment of 1960 income tax have already been sent to taxpayers, there are still a few refunds to be made to Camden District taxpayers, it was announced, in response to recent inquiries, by District Director of Internal Revenue Chris L. Gross.

Mr. Gross explained that some returns that show large refunds due and contain indications of error are audited before the refunds are made to avoid the cost and inconvenience to both the taxpayer and the Service of paying the refund and then having to collect all or part of it back. He offered this bit of solace to those who have not yet received their refunds: the Internal Revenue Service pays 6% interest on refunds scheduled after June 1.

$25,000 JUDGMENT ISSUED

Against Princeton University. A Trenton Federal Court issued a $25,000 consent judgment against Princeton University Friday for accident damages. The amount was fully covered by insurance.

The judgment awarded $17,000 to Gustav Johannsen of Arlington, Va., and $8,000 to his son, Gustav Jr. The younger Johannsen was seriously injured in an automobile accident in Washington in 1958. The driver of the other car was Shawn Bebler, a Princeton graduate student driving a University vehicle on a field trip.

tion from the state within a year. Previous sanctions have given Rider permission to offer a new major in biology and a revised curriculum in journalism, both of which will begin this September.

Undergraduate courses in the new economics program have been designed to provide a background for subsequent graduate work. Forty-two semester hours in economics will be required under the major, plus 54 credit hours of required general studies, 24 hours of elective general studies and eight hours of professional electives for a total of 128 credit hours required for the B.S. degree in economics.

MONDAY CLUB CLOSES

For The Summer. The Monday Club has ended its weekly meetings for the summer months. Meetings will resume in early fall.

The Club ended its activities with its annual June festivities. A house and games party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Mathey, a house and garden party was held at the T. C. Roberts' home, and a lawn party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hicklin.

SPORTS

NEW SCOREBOARD DUE

In Palmer Stadium. When Princeton opens its 1961 football season against Rutgers in Palmer Stadium on September 30, a new electric scoreboard will go into operation. Even its location will be new: it will be placed atop the closed end of the big horseshoe in contrast to the spot which the manually-operated board has occupied at the open end since 1914.

Information to be made available in lights will range from the score to the position of the ball, the down, and, for the less-informed spectator, even the quarter being played. A clock showing time remaining in each period will, of course, be a major feature.

Controls for the board will be located in the public address booth, atop the press box on the west side of the stadium. All information will be posted in lights by a button-pushing process from the booth—with the exception of the clock, which is operated by a fifth official near the field.

The old board, modernized periodically with the passage of years, has stood at the open end of the stadium since it was built 47 years ago. On occasion, it has been virtually completely wiped out: the "Dartmouth" hurricane of 1950 damaged it extensively, and two years later, when Pennsylvania broke Princeton's 25-game winning streak, Penn rooters ripped up the board for souvenirs.

The decision to place the new electric board in the curve of the horseshoe, behind Section 14, stems from the need to make it a permanent installation. If it were located at the open end, it would interfere with the practice football field which will soon be built there, or with the high jump pit used for track meets each spring.

Plans are also underway to increase Palmer Stadium's capacity by the addition of aluminum stands along the track on each side of the field. Later, stands may be placed at the open end. Yale games for the past several years have been at or above the stadium's 46,000-capacity, and that has also been true on occasion of the Dartmouth game when the Ivy title has been at stake.

PAC STAYS ON TOP

Faces Hightstown Thursday. A 7-3 victory over South Brunswick last week gave the Princeton Athletic Club undisputed possession of first place in the Tri-County Baseball League standings. The Princetonians' next home game is set for this Thursday at 6:15 on Bill Clarke Field east of Palmer Stadium, with Hightstown furnishing the opposition.

Dick Olsen was the winning pitcher in the game that saw the victors break away from a 3-2 deadlock in the standings with South Brunswick.

Football Series Due

The annual review of Princeton's football prospects, presented each summer by TOWN TOPICS, will begin next week.

In four parts, the articles will cover the losses by graduation from the team which placed second in the 1960 Ivy League standings; the upcoming sophomores; the tentative lineup and depth chart for 1961; and the prospects for Princeton and its nine opponents during the fall.

The losers began the week tied for the runner-up spot with Montgomery, each pegged at 3-3, while Hightstown is last at 2-4.

Olsen had a 7-0 lead as he entered the last inning. South Brunswick batting around and pushing three runs across the plate, before the rally died. The outcome enabled player-manager Tommy Petrone to keep the grip on first place he has achieved for his team since the season began.

In last week's other contest, Montgomery blanked Hightstown, 7-0, with Joe Zarkie hurling the shutout in his first start of the season. Ted Labas, son of Montgomery's manager, was a standout at the plate.

The standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Princeton	4	2	.667
Montgomery	3	3	.500
So. Brunswick	3	3	.500
Hightstown	2	4	.333

Obituaries

Percy D. Vandewater, 58, of 227 Nassau Street died suddenly July 8 at Green Island in Ocean County. A native of Princeton, he had been associated for 35 years as an interior decorator with Vandewater Bros. & Son.

Mr. Vandewater was a member of the Methodist Church. He also belonged to Washington Camp No. 106, FOS of A., and Princeton Local 453, Painters and Paperhangers Union of America.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Phillips Vandewater; a sister, Mrs. Clifford Phillips of Penns Neck; three brothers, Leon A., Raymond L. and James L. Vandewater; and several nieces and nephews.

The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home, with the Rev. Charles W. Marker, pastor of the Methodist Church, officiating. Burial was in Old School Baptist Cemetery, Hopewell.

Fred Heflinger, 60, of Mount Rose, Near Hopewell, died July 8 after a long illness. He had been in the hospital administration field since 1924.

For 13 years beginning in 1926, Mr. Heflinger was administrator of Mercer Hospital in Trenton. He left this position to serve in a similar capacity at the Manhattan Eye, Ear, and Throat Hospital in New York.

His career in New York was interrupted by World War II service, during which he was in the Medical Administrative Corps of the United States Army. At the time of his discharge, was a major and commanding officer of the convalescent section of Walter Reed Hospital in Washington.

Mr. Heflinger was a Fellow of the American College of Hospital Administrators; president of the New Jersey Hospital Association in 1936 and later, its executive secretary. In 1951, he was president of the Greater New York Hospital Association.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Margaret McEntee Heflinger, and a sister, Mrs. Hazel Aschner of Erie, Pa. A memorial service was held by the Princeton Monthly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends, of which he was a member. Contributions to the National Multiple Sclerosis Society are suggested in lieu of flowers.

Mrs. Grace Mitchell Grant, 88, died July 6 at her home, 200 Library Place. She was the widow of Benjamin F. Grant.

A graduate of the University of Minnesota, Mrs. Grant received her bachelor of law degree in 1899 and a master of arts in 1908. She was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and other patriotic societies.

Mrs. Grant is survived by a daughter, Mrs. George A. Morton, with whom she had been living, a sister, Mrs. James W. Rickey of Pittsburgh, and four grandchildren. The service was held at the Mather Funeral Home with the Rev. Francis C. Huntington of Trinity Episcopal Church officiating. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery.

Richard Pleasant, a member of the firm of Bennett and Pleasant, which supervised the McCarter Theatre production schedule from 1954 to 1958, died July 3 in New York after a long illness. A resident of that city, he was 52.

Mr. Pleasant was a member of the Class of 1932 at Princeton. During the last war, he worked with Army Special Services to provide entertainment for troops overseas. In 1939, he was a founder of the American Ballet Theatre.

John Smith, 67, of Crescent Avenue, Rocky Hill, died July 5. He was a retired construction superintendent for the Kingston Trap Rock Co.

Mr. Smith was born in Somerville and has lived in Rocky Hill since 1913. He was a former member of the Rocky Hill borough council.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Catherine M. Smith; two sons, Thayer of Belle Mead and John of Rocky Hill; a daughter, Mrs. Adelle Talbot of Delphi, Ind. two sisters, Miss Amelia Smith and Mrs. Francis Wall; a brother, Frederick, all of Somerville; and two grandchildren.

The funeral was held in the lice Little League. The pacesetters, managed by Robert Schmidt and Gene Pierro, have one tie to play off.

Standouts for Post 76 have been Billy Cirullo, Brian Heninger, Chuck Worden and Joe Golden. Engine Co No 1, in a second-place tie with the Eagles, has been helped by Skitch Donald and Mark Hallum, while a no-hitter that Richie Volz pitched against the Lions was a big victory for his team.

Sponsors of two new teams this year are the Lions Club managed by Donny Watson and Merrill Zinder, and the Elks managed by Elmer Perantoni. Games are played Monday and Wednesday nights on Pardee Field (off Washington Road) and Marquand Park. Play will continue until the end of August.

MISS SHIPWAY WINS

Takes Second Title, A 6-0, 6-1 victory over Mrs. Dorothy Katz, defending champion last week, gave Dede Shipway the Women's Singles championship of Princeton. It was the 17-year old's second victory of the summer, since she had earlier won the junior title for girls between 13 and 18.

More than 40 entries began play Monday in the Men's Singles Tournament. Entries for the Mixed Doubles, scheduled to begin next Monday, may be made until noon Friday at the University Courts or the YMCA on Avalon Place. Men's and Women's Doubles will be played simultaneously starting July 24.

Results in the women's singles:

First round—Dede Shipway defeated Barbara Glouchevitch, default; Carol Tlatler defeated Lois White, default; Dorothy Katz defeated Barbara Bates, 6-0, 6-1; Katherine Pillsbury defeated Puck Dumpel, 6-4, 6-0; Linda Corlette defeated Judith Winnberg, 2-6, 6-2, 7-5; Jean Fischer defeated Doris Teagarden, 6-0, 6-1; Jane Griswold and Lillian Ashley, byes.

Second round—Dede Shipway defeated Carol Tatler, 6-2, 6-0; Lillian Ashley defeated Jane Griswold, 6-0, 6-1; Dorothy Katz defeated Katherine Pillsbury, 6-1, 6-0; Jean Fischer defeated Linda Corlette, default.

Semi-finals: Dede Shipway defeated Lillian Ashley, 6-2, 6-2; Dorothy Katz defeated Jean Fischer, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2.

CORRECTION

speak, with music to be provided by an orchestra from the Hillside Lutheran Church of Flanders and a ladies' trio from Bethany Lutheran Church of Staten Island. A fellowship supper will follow the rally.

Miss Shirley Johnson has been elected president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church. Other officers include Mrs. Edward McCall, vice-president; Mrs. T. Roba Webb, financial secretary; and Mrs. Kenneth Sternkopf, treasurer.

The Rev. Dwight A. Huseman, mission developer of Christ the King Lutheran Church, Franklin Park, will be installed as permanent pastor of the church at 11 a.m. this Sunday and will marry Miss Sandra Kimmel of Fairless Hills, Pa., the following Sunday. The Rev. Dr. Edwin Knudten, president of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of New Jersey will officiate at the Rev. Mr Huseman's installation, and the Rev. Walter Hitchcock, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Fairless Hills, at his marriage

Members of the Calvary Baptist Church will travel to Willow Grove Sunday to look at the pulpit and pews in a church there and will then go on to Valley Forge to see the new headquarters of the American Baptist Convention. The trip, which will leave Princeton at 1.45 p.m., will be concluded with a picnic at the Valley Forge National Park.

The Kingston Presbyterian Church's Vacation Church School will begin a two-week session Monday, with classes scheduled for 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Mrs. Luther Eisenmann and Mrs. Carlton Rose will direct the school, which will center around the theme "Living by God's Time."

HINKSON'S WINS FIRST After 15 Straight Defeats.

A 6-5 victory over the Sportsmen gave Hinkson's its first victory Tuesday in the Sportsmen's Softball League Winning pitcher Bert King retired the side with the bases filled in the final inning to nail down the triumph.

Tom and Ralph Procaccino, each with two hits and two runs batted in, paced the victors. One of Tom's blows was a home run.

League-leading Ivy Inn could do no better than split its last two games, blanking Hinkson's, 6-0, last Thursday, but falling victim to a 1-0 whitewash Tuesday night. Russ Watson of Kings Inn administered the latter, pitching a two-hitter as Jim Chambers drove in the game's only run. In last week's other game, also a shutout, Butch Chambers threw a one-hitter against the Sportsmen to give King's Inn a 2-0 verdict.

The standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Ivy Inn	12	4	.750
Sportsmen	11	6	.847
King's Inn	9	7	.563
Hinkson's	1	t5	.067

BRITTON AN ALL-STAR On County Legion Team.

Raymond "Buddy" Britton, a junior at Princeton High School, will play on the Mercer County American Legion All-Star Team Monday at 8 in a night game against the New York Yankee rookies at Trenton's Hetzel Field.

Britton, who made the PHS varsity as a sophomore, is currently playing in the outfield for Lawrence Post 414 and batting over .300. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Britton, 284 Fisher Place, Penns Neck

Obituaries

. . . ponder the advantages of cooperative apartment living

at bishop Towers

What is cooperative housing?
It is housing owned and operated by its members jointly through a non-profit corporation. As a member, you are a cooperative home-owner.

Can it save me money?
Yes. Because of cooperative ownership you can live in a modern dwelling at costs well below those of comparable rental housing.

What is the income tax benefit?
A cooperative member is considered a home owner and is entitled to substantial tax savings. About 65% of every monthly payment is deductible.

overlooking the campus of Douglass College in highly convenient

New Brunswick

45 minutes from Manhattan by express buses

Cooperative living in Bishop Towers is better than renting or owning a home. Here's why—

bishop Towers	Renting an Apartment	Owning a Home
As a cooperative home owner your occupancy is permanent.	The landlord is boss—you're merely a tenant.	You're boss—or are you? . . . The burden of upkeep is yours alone.
Your lower monthly charges cover only actual costs of operating and owning the building. All maintenance is included.	Monthly rents include the owner's profit and can be raised without control.	All responsibility for maintenance, insurance and repairs is yours and is usually costlier than you figured.
You have a voice in the operation of your building and its standards.	You have no voice in the management or policies of the building.	You cannot control what happens to your neighborhood.

There are many other advantages! Stop in and find out what they are—

Bishop Towers is an attractively designed contemporary cooperative apartment building outstandingly located on Memorial Parkway near college campuses in a lovely river valley environment. Features include: full length windows in living rooms, efficiently-planned kitchen, abundant closets, laundry rooms on each floor, many apartments with terraces; gardens and play areas.
